Report on A.R.G. College of Arts and Commerce Library and Information Centre Collaboration with IRINS

Introduction: The A.R.G. College of Arts and Commerce Library and Information Centre takes immense pride in its commitment to fostering innovative solutions for research management and scholarly communication. This report outlines the collaboration between our institution and the web-based Research Information Management (RIM) service known as IRINS. Developed by the Information and Library Network (INFLIBNET) Centre, IRINS offers a platform for collecting, curating, and showcasing scholarly communication activities. This collaboration underscores our dedication to enhancing research capabilities and networking opportunities for our academic community.

About IRINS: IRINS, or the Indian Research Information Network System, is a web-based Research Information Management service developed by the INFLIBNET Centre. This service is designed to cater to academic and research organizations, as well as faculty members and scientists across India. IRINS facilitates the collection, curation, and presentation of scholarly communication activities, serving as a hub for creating a scholarly network within the academic and research landscape.

Key Features and Benefits:

1. Scholarly Communication Activities: IRINS empowers academic and research professionals to compile and manage their scholarly communication activities, including publications, presentations, projects, and collaborations.
2. Scholarly Network Creation: The portal offers a unique opportunity to establish and expand scholarly networks by showcasing the work of faculty members, scientists, and researchers. This networking enhances collaboration and knowledge sharing.
3. Integration with Existing Systems: IRINS supports the integration of various research management systems such as HR systems, course management, grant management systems, institutional repositories, citation databases, and scholarly publishers. This integration streamlines data management and improves efficiency.
4. Academic Identity Integration: IRINS is equipped with the capability to integrate academic identities like ORCID ID, ScopusID, Research ID, Microsoft Academic ID, and Google
